Indianapolis, IN (February 14, 2017) — The Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) is pleased to acknowledge Chief Kevin Jowitt of the Noblesville Police Department as the 2017 IACP President.

“It is a privilege to serve as the President of the IACP in 2017. On behalf of the Board of Directors, the IACP Foundation, the Association staff, and the dedicated law enforcement executives who are the members of the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police, I thank you for your interest in the IACP and renew our commitment to providing professional law enforcement leadership to the communities we serve.”

Prior to his appointment in Noblesville in May of 2009, Kevin Jowitt served as chief of the Westfield, Indiana Police Department. He is a retired division commander from the Hamilton County Sheriff’s Office and began his law enforcement career at the Indiana University Police Department in Bloomington in May of 1976. Chief Jowitt has a Master of Science in Criminal Justice and Public Safety and a Bachelor of Science in Business from Indiana University and has completed many professional development courses including sessions offered by the Southern Police Institute, Michigan State University, and the 71st session of the FBI’s Law Enforcement Executive Development Seminar.

Kevin Jowitt is a director and officer with the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police and a member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the Police Executive Research Forum, the FBI Law Enforcement Executive Development Association, and the Fraternal Order of Police. He is also a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity and Phi Eta Sigma, Golden Key, and Alpha Phi Sigma academic honoraria’s and serves on the Distinguished Alumni Council of the Indiana University School of Public and Environmental Affairs.

About the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP)

The Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police represents in excess of 95% of municipal law enforcement from around the state of Indiana and has been chartered since 1922. It and its sister foundation provide educational training and benefits to its nearly 500 members.

The mission of the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police is to promote professionalism, training and networking for the law enforcement executive and to enhance public awareness of law enforcement and public safety issues.

The Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police is an individual member organization consisting of ten local districts within the State of Indiana. Each District has its own elected two-year representative on the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors develops policies and programs for the membership as a whole.
