Indianapolis, IN (February 9, 2016) —The Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) is pleased to announce that Special Agent in Charge Paul Dvorak of the U.S. Secret Service will serve as the new Federal Director.

As Special Agent in Charge (SAIC) of the Indianapolis Field Office, Paul R. Dvorak is responsible for managing protective responsibilities for our nation's leaders, and investigations impacting the financial infrastructure and payment system in the State of Indiana. He was named to the position on January 10, 2016 after serving as the Assistant Special Agent in Charge of the Indianapolis Field Office.

Mr. Dvorak was previously assigned to Secret Service Headquarters in the Office of Administration. There he oversaw the travel logistics for more than 6,000 employees including transportation and lodging logistics associated with the protection of the President and Vice President on all domestic and international travel. Mr. Dvorak managed $105 million in airline, rental vehicles and lodging expenses over a three year period. He was also the agency's Contracting Officer Representative for an $8.5 million travel manager account.

Mr. Dvorak holds a B.S. from the University of Alabama at Birmingham and has received numerous commendations for his service with the Secret Service.
