Indianapolis, IN (February 5, 2016) — At its Mid-Winter Conference, the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police announced Chief Kevin Jowitt from the Noblesville Police Department as its Vice President for the year 2016.

Kevin Jowitt is the Chief of Police for the City of Noblesville, Indiana. Prior to his appointment in Noblesville in May of 2009 he served as chief of the Westfield, Indiana Police Department. He is a retired division commander from the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office and began his law enforcement career at the Indiana University Police Department in Bloomington in May of 1976.

Chief Jowitt has a Master of Science in Criminal Justice and Public Safety and a Bachelor of Science in Business from Indiana University and has completed many professional development courses including sessions offered by the Southern Police Institute, Michigan State University, and the 71st session of the FBI's Law Enforcement Executive Development Seminar.

About the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP)

The Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police represents in excess of 95% of municipal law enforcement from around the state of Indiana and has been chartered since 1922. It and its sister foundation provide educational training and benefits to its nearly 500 members.

The mission of the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police is to promote professionalism, training and networking for the law enforcement executive and to enhance public awareness of law enforcement and public safety issues.

The Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police is an individual member organization consisting of ten local districts within the State of Indiana. Each District has its own elected two-year representative on the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors develops policies and programs for the membership as a whole.
